45 German Warships Approaching Reval Troops Have Landed

Daily News Bolshevik Correspondent at Petrograd States Trotsky Will Probably Resign—German Forces Continue Uninterrupted Progress—Minsk Latest Town to Capitulate—Thousands of Prisoners and War Booty.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
LONDON, Feb. 21.—Forty-five German warships were approaching Reval on Wednesday, according to a message received by the Express from its Petrograd correspondent.

Troops have landed at Reval and the Daily News Bolshevik correspondent telegraphs that Trotsky will probably resign.

BERLIN, via London, Feb. 21.—The German troops have entered Minsk in their advance eastward in Russia, according to the report from headquarters this evening.

Great Spoil for Huns
BERLIN, Feb. 21.—The war office announces that 1353 guns and between 4,000 and 5,000 motor cars have been captured from the Russians.

The Russian town of Rovno has been cleared of the Russians, the war office reports. Trains with about 1,000 cars, many laden with food, have been captured, as well as airplanes and an incalculable amount of war material.

Between Dvinsk and Litovsk the Germans are pressing eastward. General von Linsingen's movement continues. Important railway and highway junctions have been occupied.

The Germans have made prisoner a general commanding an army, 425 officers and 8,700 men.

Rovno is the most easterly of the triangle of Russian fortresses in Volhynia. Lusk, the western citadel in the triangle, capitulated to the Germans on February 15 without fighting. The third fortress in Volhynia, Dubno, lies about midway between Rovno and the town of Brody, on the Galician frontier.

PETROGRAD, Feb. 21.—Bolshevik leaders declare that if the German offensive continues they will defend Petrograd with the Red Guard, and harass the German advance by guerrilla warfare. No plans have been made for evacuation of this city.

The Bolsheviks say this is a new war, not the old war, and that they will present a united front against the Germans. They believe the proletariat of Russia will be able to continue the war.

The opinion as to the Germans' plan is divided. Some of the papers believe Petrograd will be attacked, but others regard this as improbable.

Food Shortage in States in East for Next 60 Days—Hoover

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The eastern part of the United States faces a food shortage which will continue for the next sixty days.

In making this disclosure tonight, Food Administrator Hoover declared that the situation is the most serious in the country's history and that, in many of the large consuming areas, food stores are at a point of exhaustion.

The whole blame is laid by the food administrator on railroad congestion, which he says, has hindered the food administration for behind in its program for feeding the allies.

The only solution he sees is a greatly increased movement of food from the east to the west.

It is evident tonight that the railroad administration is inclined to resist Mr. Hoover's battle of the railroads and Director-General McAdoo declared he was ready to provide every transportation facility for expediting food movement.

The railroad administration, he said, had suggested that the food administrator should be given the right to take control of the railroads.

We Are Fighting for Our Lives Says Milner Speaking on War Aims

'We Are Fighting for the Very Existence of the Free Nations of Western Europe—German Military Party is Now in the Saddle and They Want Knock Out Blow'

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
LONDON, Feb. 21.—Viscount Milner, member of the war cabinet, speaking at Plymouth tonight, deprecated too much talk about war aims.

"Until peace negotiations are reached," he said, "we are fighting for our lives, and the very existence of free nations in Western Europe. As a result of the collapse of Russia, the military party of Germany is again firmly in the saddle. Doubtless many of the people of Germany loathe the continuance of bloodshed for more aggression but at present they are quite powerless."

Lord Milner continued that it was no longer a question of destroying Prussian militarism, but whether Prussian militarism would destroy the British and dominate Europe and part of Asia.

"President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George have been very clear," he continued, "that we have no desire to demolish Germany, but we have a desire to demolish Prussian militarism, but a question of whether we will destroy it or sweep away everything that freedom living has brought us for the last century. It has been suggested that if we could make a perfectly clear the German people that we were not fighting to destroy Prussian militarism, but to destroy the form of the constitution, the peace would be secured."

"But I maintain that we have made no such clear statement. We have not said that we are not fighting to destroy Prussian militarism, but to destroy the form of the constitution. We have not said that we are not fighting to destroy Prussian militarism, but to destroy the form of the constitution."

The German military party has proclaimed its policy that their sole object is to deal a knock-out blow to Italy, France and Great Britain. The Prussian militarism was all that prevented Germany from dominating Europe and a greater part of Asia and the establishment of military despotic rule would be the result.

A labor delegate, then remained on the floor that if council had not drawn a decision to stay, that he would have been sworn in and attempt any other means to get the council to stay and the delegates continued the work.

Thereafter, it was asked, why could not the government have requested a concession in dealing with the "resistant" players—such as an urging that they be treated as "non-combatants"?

Mayor La Guardia said he was not sure that the answer to the question was as he had stated before—namely, that the government was not in a class of recommendation that he could make.

The allegation as to fires being set by the public and from the streets, which the lawlessness which would have occurred in the event of a strike, was presented at the meeting of the committee on the subject of the trial of the Zinder Council and the city council.
